Wednesday, January 30

11:00am-11:45am Eastern
10:00am-10:45am Central
9:00am-9:45am Mountain
8:00am-8:45am Pacific

This briefing from ADL's Center on Extremism will provide highlights and insights from ADL's recently released report Murder and Extremism in the United States in 2018. Among the key findings of the report is that right-wing extremists were responsible for all but one of the 50 extremist-related murders ADL has documented for 2018, making them responsible for more deaths than in any year since 1995. This is a change from recent years that saw multiple-casualty-killings committed by Islamist extremists and also black nationalists.

Attachments: ADL Advanced Training School.pdf

This is just a friendly reminder that applications for the winter session of ADL's Advanced Training School™ (ATS) course on Extremist and Terrorist Threats, taking place from December 10-12 in Washington, DC, are due next week. If you are interested in applying or in nominating a top executive from your agency to apply to participate, all applications must be in by Thursday, October 18 in order to be considered. You'll find more information about the program attached and below.

ATS is recognized as one of the premier counter-terrorism programs in the country, and is one of the most sought after. More than 1,200 of the nation's top law enforcement leaders, representing over 250 agencies, have graduated from the course, which was created by the ADL (Anti-Defamation League) in 2003.

- About ATS. ATS provides law enforcement executives and commanders with critical information and resources to increase their capabilities in combating domestic and international extremist and terrorist threats. The training is designed to provide law enforcement leaders with practical and useful information which may be used to prevent, investigate and respond to incidents and threats. ATS is acclaimed for the excellence of its curriculum, the skill and knowledge of its presenters and the quality of its participants.
- Criteria for admission. Candidates must be senior level law enforcement who oversee special operations, intelligence, counterterrorism, homeland security, special investigations, or related areas. In order to serve as many agencies as possible, no more than one candidate will be admitted from any agency (or federal field office) per ATS session.
- Class size and selectivity. A maximum of forty (40) law enforcement leaders are accepted to participate in each session.
- Costs. ADL is responsible for expenses related to participation in the training, including hotel accommodations and meals for the duration of the training. Participants are responsible for their transportation to and from Washington, DC.
- Deadline. Completed applications must be received by Thursday, October 18.

NEW REPORT FROM ADL PROVIDES AN IN-DEPTH LOOK AT THE CURRENT STATE OF AMERICAN WHITE SUPREMACY

New York, NY, October 9, 2018 ... ADL has unveiled a new and comprehensive report that examines the current state of white supremacy. "New Hate and Old: The Changing Face of American White Supremacy," produced by ADL's Center on Extremism, is a deep dive into the forces behind this deadly ideology -- from the emergence of the alt right to the ongoing threat posed by more established elements of the movement.

Among the contents of the report: a close look at the increasing use of podcasts by white supremacists to spread their hate, extremists' internal debate over "optics" and the staggering statistics behind white supremacist violence.

"We need to take this threat very seriously and be proactive in combating it," said ADL CEO Jonathan Greenblatt. "Historically, white supremacists have killed more people in the United States than any other type of domestic extremist – and that remains true today. Violence continues to permeate the white supremacist movement."

"White supremacists in the United States have experienced a resurgence in the past three years, driven in large part by the rise of the alt right," said George Selim, ADL Senior Vice President of Programs. "Youth-oriented and overwhelmingly male, the alt right has provided new energy to the movement, but has also been a destabilizing force, much as racist skinheads were to the movement in the 1980s and early 1990s."

According to analysts at ADL's Center on Extremism, some white supremacists, such as neo-Nazis, seem to have been buoyed by the rise of the alt right, while other groups – most notably racist skinheads – appear to have lost potential recruits to the newer strain of white supremacy. The report also examines the political environment that has emboldened the alt right, and recent violence linked to white supremacists.

The report includes a series of legislative and administrative policy recommendations to combat the threat posed by violent, far-right extremists. As part of those recommendations, ADL calls on the United States Congress to enact a domestic terrorism statute that explicitly recognizes and punishes domestic terrorism as a crime, and also asks the federal government to collect statistics on domestic terrorism and other forms of extremist-related criminal activity and to ensure training for law enforcement on best practices to combat domestic terrorism.

*ADL is a leading anti-hate organization. Founded in 1913 in response to an escalating climate of anti-Semitism and bigotry, its timeless mission is to protect the Jewish people and to secure justice and fair treatment for all. Today, ADL continues to fight all forms of hate with the same vigor and passion. ADL is the first call when acts of anti-Semitism occur. A global leader in exposing extremism, delivering anti-bias education and fighting hate online, ADL's ultimate goal is a world in which no group or individual suffers from bias, discrimination or hate. ## ABOUT THE ADVANCED TRAINING SCHOOL (ATS)

Created by ADL (Anti-Defamation League), the most respected private authority on extremism, the Advanced Training School (ATS) is recognized as one of the nation's premier counter-terrorism training programs. The three day course provides law enforcement leaders with state of the art information and instruction on the full spectrum of domestic and international terrorist threats, tactics and movements. Led by the foremost experts on extremism and terrorism, the curriculum is continually being updated to address the evolving nature of terrorism. Offered twice a year, with a class size limited to forty, more than 1,200 of the nation's top law enforcement leaders, representing over 250 agencies, have graduated from the course.

ATS's curriculum includes:

- The latest in expertise, information and resources to increase the capability of law enforcement executives and commanders to prevent, investigate and respond to incidents and threats.
- An examination of major types of extremist movements, including homegrown Islamist extremism, white supremacy and anti-government extremism.
- Case studies of recent terrorist acts that provide lessons learned from the firsthand experiences of law enforcement leaders.
- Discussions about the critical importance of protecting civil rights and liberties in law enforcement's efforts to combat terrorism.

ABOUT ADL

ADL, founded in 1913, is recognized as the leading authority on extremism, terrorism and hate both foreign and domestic. ADL works in close partnership with federal, state, local and military law enforcement agencies and is recognized as a leader in the development of innovative training.

ABOUT THE ADVANCED TRAINING SCHOOL (ATS)

Created by ADL (Anti-Defamation League), the most respected private authority on extremism, the Advanced Training School (ATS) is recognized as one of the nation's premier counter-terrorism training programs. The three day course provides law enforcement leaders with state of the art information and instruction on the full spectrum of domestic and international terrorist threats, tactics and movements. Led by the foremost experts on extremism and terrorism, the curriculum is continually being updated to address the evolving nature of terrorism. Offered twice a year, with a class size limited to forty, more than 1,200 of the nation's top law enforcement leaders, representing over 250 agencies, have graduated from the course.

ATS's curriculum includes:

- The latest in expertise, information and resources to increase the capability of law enforcement executives and commanders to prevent, investigate and respond to incidents and threats.
- An examination of major types of extremist movements, including homegrown Islamist extremism, white supremacy and anti-government extremism.
- Case studies of recent terrorist acts that provide lessons learned from the firsthand experiences of law enforcement leaders.
- Discussions about the critical importance of protecting civil rights and liberties in law enforcement's efforts to combat terrorism.

ABOUT ADL

Subject: Welcome to the ADL Alumni Network

On behalf of the Anti-Defamation League (ADL), I would like to welcome you to the newly launched ADL Law Enforcement Executives' Alumni Network. The Alumni Network was created exclusively for law enforcement who have graduated from one or more of ADL's major law enforcement leadership programs and is designed for continued access to our resources, programs and events. We look forward to your participation in our alumni activities.

Benefits will include:

- Access to virtual briefings and webinars from renowned experts from ADL and law enforcement on critical issues, including: extremism, terrorism, hate crimes, leadership, police community relations, and trust building;
- Previews of new ADL resources and reports on the latest trends we are tracking in extremism, terrorism, and hate;
- New training opportunities to assist law enforcement in managing implicit bias and building trust with the communities you serve;
- Information on best practices and innovations in preventing and responding hate crimes;
- Invitations to ADL gatherings at major law enforcement conferences and events;
- Opportunities to connect and engage with other members of the Alumni Network;
- Opportunities to recommend colleagues for future sessions of ADL's national law enforcement programs;
- And access to resources and support through ADL's network of 25 Regional Offices.

Please feel free to contact me with any questions, and to let us know additional ways that we can be of assistance or service to you, your agency and our program alumni.

We look forward to continuing our work together towards the goal of increasing the security of our nation and the safety of its communities.

Sincerely,

Elise

Subject: ADL Security Recommendations for the High Holidays

Dear Law Enforcement colleagues,

The Anti-Defamation League (ADL) is pleased to provide you with the dates on which the Jewish High Holidays will fall this year. These holidays are among the most holy in the Jewish religion and their prayer services are among the most widely attended of all the Jewish holidays of the year. You may wish to draw special attention of patrols to synagogues and Jewish institutions at these times:

- Rosh Hashanah (the Jewish New Year) will begin at sundown on Sunday, September 9 and last until sundown on Tuesday, September 11.
- Yom Kippur (the Day of Atonement) will begin at sundown on Tuesday, September 18 and last until sundown on Wednesday, September 19.

While Rosh Hashanah and Yom Kippur are the most widely attended Jewish holidays of the year, Sukkot, Shemini Atzeret, and Simchat Torah, which take place from September 23 to October 2, also may attract a high number of worshippers. It is also worth noting that the traditional huts built outdoors during the festival of Sukkot may be a target for vandalism.

ADL was founded in 1913 to stop anti-Semitism and all forms of hate. ADL works closely with federal, state and local law enforcement across the country to fight hate crimes, extremism, and terrorism, and to protect the Jewish community and all citizens alike.

Please do not hesitate to contact me with any questions or concerns. We appreciate your efforts and commitment to keeping the community safe.

Sincerely,

Talia
